

ESP 394: Final Portfolio Instructions:

Upon completion of your internship, you are required to submit an electronic copy of your final portfolio. READ through each section requirements CAREFULLY and PLAN accordingly. Each section requires some work; you should be working through each section throughout the remaining duration of your internship. It is up to you how you choose to present the information; the only requirements are that the report is detailed and clearly organized.

DUE DATE: August 15, 2026. Email Mark if you need to turn this in at a different time.

Part 1: Host Company Overview

Provide a brief background about your host company that includes the following:

- Company Name and History
- Type of Business Model: By what type of business model does your company operate (marketplace, gaming, enterprise software, e-commerce, retail, adtech, consulting, etc.)

Part 2: Deliverables Report

This section comprises the majority of your internship - the work that you find most meaningful and impactful for your host company. In this section, please discuss your contributions/achievements/work examples) completed throughout your internship. This section should include:

Between 4-5 examples of your best work completed as part of your internship. They can either be assignments given by your supervisors, projects worked on with co-workers, or side projects you completed.

Provide description of each project (please use these headers for each project):

1. Name of Project/Assignment a. Describe the context, describe the project + describe what was asked of you.

b. What did you personally contribute or create? Describe your thought process about how to approach the assignment, the methods/process you used to complete the assignment, and a description of what you ultimately contributed or created.

- c. You do not need to submit any materials you may have created for the company. Specifically, DO NOT include or show any information the company may consider confidential.
- d. Outcome of Project: What did the completion of this project contribute to the company? Specifically, was it used in any way and if so, please describe.
2. Skills Acquired: What skills did you use and/or acquire by completing this project?
3. What challenges did you overcome to complete this project?

Part 3: Articulate Your Impact (this is for you!)

Using the above, develop a one-paragraph accomplishment story for one of the experiences you just mentioned above and how it made a positive impact on your team, organization or project. This section is for you...for future interviews and whenever you are asked to discuss your internship.

Great accomplishment statements capture the actions you took and the results you achieved and include the following items and make you look like a "CAR":

- . Context and goal of the situation
- . Actions you took
- . Results you produced for the company

Accomplishment stories use previous accomplishments to illustrate skills put into action. They back up the bullets on your resume and inform the listener about the unique strengths that you can bring to your next employer.

Part 4: Altman Scholar Reflection

Read the article, "The Six Characteristics of Successful Employees in Rapidly Growing Companies" and your reflection about how you lived out those attributes this summer. (available on Canvas)

For each of the six elements describe one way that shows how you actually displayed that characteristic this summer in your internship. That is six total examples you will need to provide. It may well be similar to your earlier reflection or there may be some changes. Think of this as a set of learnings from this summer. Why do this? One, is for you to better understand you. Two, often potential employers will ask what you learned in your internships. This is the input to answer that future question.

Think of starting each example with a phrase like "For example, I found myself faced with/I had to figure out/I learned this/I realized that, etc. Don't think of this as a place to brag or to be non-authentic. Rather, think about this as a critical assessment of what you did relative to the things most desired by employers...and come up with concrete examples to demonstrate this.

Part 5: Thank You Letters

Host Company- Include a copy of a hand written or typed thank you note to your host company team.

These should be given to them upon completion of your internship
